Grange Installation

MRS. DOWNING HONORED

An open meeting was held last Thursday night by Mattapoisett Grange for the purpose of the installation of its 1969 officers. Installing master was Past State Deputy Gilbert Collins with soloist and pianist, Walter Caswell. At the request of Mrs. Mildred LeBaron, the installing suite consisted of Past Junior Masters that had served with her and Mr. Collins. The marshall was Donald Johnson of Falmouth. Others were Terry Cray, Wayne Sylvia and Mark Harris of Mattapoisett who did a fine exemplification of floor work.

Officers installed by this fine group were Mrs. LeBaron, master; Otto Kellish, overseer; Mrs. Ruby Barber, lecturer; Joseph Alves, steward; Dale Fearing, assistant steward; Mrs. Gladys Pearson, chaplain; Lemuel LeBaron, treasurer; Mrs. Evelyn Linhares, secretary; William Smith, gatekeeper; Mrs. Susan LaFleur, Ceres; Mrs.

Worthy Master LeBaron presented gifts of appreciation to the suite, thanking them for granting her whim.

The installing master presented Past Master Susan LaFleur with a past master's jewel expressing works of gratitude from members of Mattapoisett Grange for her service as master.

Past chaplain, Mrs. Rebecca Downing, was escorted to the altar by the lecturer, Mrs. Ruby Barber, and was presented with honor an honorary chaplain's sash by Mr. Collins, from the members of Mattapoisett Grange. Mrs. Downing retired as chaplain after 22 years of service in that office.

Another officer retiring as secretary was Mrs. Ruth Shaw who had served the Grange 10 years in that office. She was presented a gift from the master, representing the members of the Grange, in appreciation of the service she gave.

Visiting dignitaries were Pomona Master, Robert Ouellette; and Masters Elbridge Cleveland of O-Ne-Set, Herbert LaFleur of Acushnet and George Randall of Brookville. All spoke briefly.

Home and Community Service chairman, Mrs. Olive Gifford, awarded a basket of groceries to Mrs. Margarite Vaughan.

Hilltop Friendship Circle

Mrs. Ruth W. Shaw, president, conducted the business meeting, held Tuesday at the Sunday School rooms for the Hilltop Friendship Circle.

The speaker at Quaker Meeting Sunday was Mrs. Rachel (Mostrom) Chappell, who, with her husband, conducts a school in Taiwan, Free China. Mrs. Chappell is a daughter of the late Rev. Oscar Mostrom of Wareham, who was pastor in Mattapoisett several years ago. The Circle voted a donation to the Chappell school.

It was reported by Mrs. Shaw that the August sale was successful.

The menu was planned for a luncheon to be served to Long Plain Preparative Meeting members on October 19th.

Your State of Health

EMPHYSEMA

Every time you inhale deeply or even breathe a deep sigh of relief...consider yourself lucky! Why? Because there are at least two and possibly as many as fourteen million Americans who have great difficulty just breathing. They are afflicted with chronic obstructive respiratory diseases such as chronic bronchitis, asthma, bronchiectasis, chronic pneumonia and emphysema. And of them all, emphysema has the highest incidence. However, emphysema and/or chronic bronchitis are so frequently found together that they are often lumped as one. A fairly recent estimate of citizens suffering chronic lung diseases in Massachusetts reveals that approximately seven percent of the population is affected. In fact, one out of every twenty-five persons here who died in 1965 had a respiratory disease.

Possibly 17,000 Americans become new victims every year and more than 25,000 will die of emphysema and chronic bronchitis during 1968. Reported deaths have risen over four times in the last decade. And, if present rates continue, mortality statistics will list 180,000 by 1983. Emphysema is rated as the fastest growing crippler disease in the United States today. It causes irreversible destruction of lung tissue, which results in abnormal distention of the sponge-like lung, a loss of its wondrous elasticity and an entrapment of dead or stale air within it. There is also obstruction of certain airway tubes which make it extremely difficult, almost impossible in severe cases, to exhale without assistance from respirators.

The severely afflicted emphysema patient constantly acts like he has just finished a run for his life. He is constantly out of breath. Unlike the patient with a broken arm who can assume a position of comparative comfort, the patient with emphysema, even the non-hospitalized one, battles to breathe each day. In fact many sufferers must use a mechanical lung on occasion, especially when experiencing near-suffocating episodes.

Emphysema attacks tiny bubble-like sacs,

This is one of the many superb photographic enlargements, from the negatives of Albert Cook Church, the famous whaling photographer from Fairhaven, in the Presto Press collection. Mr. Church's photographs have been published in a book called Whaleships and Whaling. Now you can own a 16" x 20" photo made from his negatives. In the collection are a series of views of the Charles W. Morgan, Wanderer, Greyhound, Josephine, Andrew Hicks and others. Orders intended for Christmas must be in early. No orders will be taken in December. The photographs in the mat are 22" x 28" and make a handsome focal point for a colonial room.

which pervade the tissue of the lungs. If these sacs were spread out, they'd cover the area of two tennis courts...there are 750 million in all. Eventually the walls of these sacs start to deteriorate and lose their resiliency. This results, among other things, in groups of ruptured air sacs combining to form larger sacs which tend to trap stale air containing carbon dioxide, inside the lungs. Large holes develop in the otherwise uniform, sponge-like lung tissue.

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health says emphysema strikes men about seven times as frequently as it does women. It ranks second only to heart disease as a crippler of men in their most productive years. And it is responsible for more invalidism among men in their most productive years than cerebral strokes, cancer, tuberculosis and mental disorders. It costs an estimated ninety million dollars annually in disability allowances alone. In a recent survey by the Social Security Administration, emphysema ranks highest as the condition for which disability claims were granted. In the year 1963, one out of every twenty persons in Massachusetts receiving disability benefits, was disabled because of this disease.

Because Public Health Officials and other medical authorities firmly believe that there is a definite relationship between the smoking habit and the development of chronic chest diseases it is strongly recommended, especially among people who suffer chronic illnesses, that smoking be stopped or at least curtailed. Almost constant scientific research is being carried on by government, medicine and the cigarette industry in an effort to pin down a positive basic cause. In addition to smoking, many other avenues of research are underway in an effort to check causes and prevent further upward spiralling of the disease which actually takes away the breath of life.

One of the most far-reaching research projects underway since 1957 in Tecumseh, Michigan, is the world-pioneering venture involving nearly all the town's citizens.

The study might be called the anatomy of health and disease, virtually from the cradle to the grave. It is designed as a new approach to finding underlying causes of many of the major chronic illnesses such as heart, cancer, diabetes, arthritis, birth defects, and this year emphysema has been added.

But until such time as some definitive knowledge is compiled as a result of the research now being done, it would be wise for anyone who experiences breathing difficulties to have an examination by his physician and begin immediate treatment. And if you have already been diagnosed as having emphysema, it means you must take extreme care in following your doctor's advice. It also means that cigarette smoking should be out of the question.

Girl Scout Plans Made

At recent meetings of the Neighborhood Service Team of the Mattapoisett Girl Scouts, plans have been made for the ensuing year. Membership in Scouts is still growing, necessitating more volunteer leadership at all age levels. Training will be provided for all adults new to Scouting, including leaders and assistants and troop committees. The troop committee member who is familiar with program aims and procedures will be better equipped to be of assistance to the leader.

Plymouth Bay Council is sponsoring two sessions of training for new people which will be given in Mattapoisett in the Fellowship room of the Congregational Church. The first session will be next Monday evening, September 30th, at 7:30 P.M.; the second session will be the following week, Monday, October 7th, at 7:30. Any adult wishing a refresher is also urged to attend.

Junior Girl Scout meetings (4th, 5th and 6th grades) will start the first Wednesday in October. As there will be a new troop this year, it has been necessary to move a limited number of girls into the new troop in order to maintain a balance among the three grades and to provide the troop with girls experienced in leadership and scout activities. Leaders are Mrs. Richard Hoeh, Mrs. Robert Boardman, Mrs. William Mac Lean and Mrs. Richard Kennedy.

Brownie Girl Scouts will begin meetings the second week in October with Mrs. Denman Morgan as leader.

Time and place of Cadette meetings will be announced by Miss Ann Craig, leader. Advisor for the Senior troop will be Miss Elora Martin and meetings will be scheduled in the homes of troop members.

MEETING FOR PARENTS & FRIENDS

A meeting of Parents and Friends of Handicapped and Retarded Children will be held Wednesday, October 2nd, at 8 P.M. at the home of Mrs. Richard Threlfall, 739 Front Street, Marion. This will be a planning meeting to co-ordinate ideas for the coming year. The new president, Mrs. Threlfall, will preside. All regular members are urged to attend and bring suggestions for aiding the group to continue their help to parents of handicapped children. Any

CLEARING UP A MURKY MYSTERY

Deep in the dense jungles of the Yucatan Peninsula lies the sacred Mayan Well of Sacrifice — the "Cenote Sacrala." Nearby, the ancient city of Chichen Itza stands in ruin, massive stone pyramids and temples silent in the sun.

When drought plagued the Maya Indians, they believed that Chac, the rain god, was angry. To appease him, they made human sacrifices into the pool — instructing the victim beforehand what to tell the gods. The victim was then thrown over the brink of the circular well, 80 feet down vertical cliffs to dark, deep water. Spectators would shower the pool with their most precious property afterwards — often jade jewelry, weapons, and pottery.

Now, modern man has gone into the well — not for sacrifice but for science. The first successful dredgings of the cenote took place between 1904 and 1907, and the Mayan art and pottery brought to light made this discovery comparable to the opening of King Tut's tomb!

Early explorations were hampered by water so murky that light penetrated no deeper than 10 feet from the surface. Below the blackness was 10 to 30 feet of mud. Scientists wanted not only to recover artifacts but also to determine their age by their location in the mud layers. To do so they needed clear water and they turned to water filtration to do it! According to researchers at Johns-Manville, producer of the Celite filter aids used, diatomite filters were best suited for the job because the diatomaceous earth used in them is up to 100 times finer than sand, and can separate the smallest particles from the water. The CHD-Purex filters used at the cenote were designed for a gigantic job — each of the four units incorporated 200 square feet of filter area!

The first discovery of the recent exploration was a chunk of pale resin, used by the Maya as incense in religious ceremonies. A few minutes later a ceramic bowl was uncovered, followed by carved golden idols, necklaces of human teeth, weapons — and one of the oldest rubber objects ever found, a four-inch latex effigy.

Out of the filtered depths came thousands of bones and artifacts — and the rugged trial of a new technique in archeology. Scientists are now looking ahead to when they might uncover the full story of this complex Mayan civilization which flourished in Mexico while Europe was in the Dark Ages!

bership in the Solo Parents Club. Membership is open to divorced, widowed, or legally separated mothers and fathers of minor children, including those who do not have custody. The next meeting of this club is October 1st when Dr. Aris T. Papas will speak on the subject, The Trouble with Johnny is not the Parents. Interested men and women eligible for club membership are cordially invited to come as guests. Time will be 7:45 P.M. in the Blue Room.

The swimming program for handicapped children, sponsored by Easter Seals Society for Crippled Children and Adults for Massachusetts, Inc., for children 5-17 years of age, begins October 19, from 7 to 8 P.M. The course will be given from 4 to 5 P.M. for 8 weeks. Qualified American Red Cross instructors will assist in the program. Volunteer drivers are needed to transport children.

A Handicapped Swim Clinic for men and women interested in helping in this community program is planned for October 2. Mrs. Beatrice Whalen, pool director, will be pleased to talk about the project to prospective helpers. Call YWCA, 999-6201. Mr. Herbert Rego, Water Safety chairman, American Red Cross, will conduct the clinic.

Updating Cub Scouting

NEW LOOK IN CUB SCOUTING

Aquanaut, geologist, naturalist, traveler, scholar, showman, outdoorsman and engineer. Time was when these words described grown-ups' activities. But not any longer — thanks to a new, greatly enriched program of Cub Scouting.

Scouting is a continuous experience which began at the turn of the century, when Lieutenant-General Robert S. S. Baden-Powell, who was training recruits from England in Africa, found the men lacking in resourcefulness. His resourceful idea was to extend the training of men to the education and development of boys — and in 1910 Scouting came to America through William D. Boyce, an American editor who had met with Powell a year earlier. Today, Scouting covers everything from Cubs to Explorers, and provides leadership experience for young people.

It seems to me that the Democrats in nominating Vice-President Humphrey for president are asking voters to substitute the dummy for the ventriloquist.

Humphrey's present pleas for law and order are not impressive, in view of his past history. People have not forgotten his shouts in New Orleans that he "could lead a mighty good revolt himself"!

I cannot visualize his leading our embattled country back to the wonderful peace we used
